"Mind the gap" is an audible or visual warning phrase issued to rail passengers to take caution while crossing the horizontal, and in some cases vertical, spatial gap between the train door and the station platform. The phrase was first introduced in 1968 on the London Underground in the United Kingdom. It is today popularly associated with the UK among tourists because of the particularly British word choice.

Mind The Gap is a panel show that pits the generations against each other to find out for certain whether life begins or ends at 40. Host Mel Giedroyc is joined by a team of young whippersnappers, captained by Chris Ramsey, and a team of old farts, helmed by Jenny Eclair. They will face a series of mental, physical and general knowledge challenges that will determine for good who's best equipped to face the challenges of modern life.
